DISEASES.

The diseases with respect to which special powers are conferred by the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, on the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council in Ireland are Cattle Plague, Pleuro-Pneumonia, Foot and Mouth Disease, and Swine Fever.

The other diseases dealt with in the Act of 1894, and in the Orders in Council, are Anthrax, Glanders or Farcy, Rabies, Sheep-Pox, and Sheep-Scab.

CATTLE PLAGUE.

No case of Cattle Plague has occurred in Ireland since the year 1866.

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA.

Ireland continues free from Pleuro-Pneumonia. The last outbreak of that disease occurred in September, 1892.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

Foot and Mouth Disease has not appeared in Ireland since 1884.

SWINE FEVER.

Throughout the year 1895 the Veterinary Department continued to be actively engaged in dealing with Swine Fever.

Upon receipt of notification of a suspected outbreak, a Veterinary Inspector visits the place on which the case is reported to have occurred; and if he considers that the disease exists he declares the premises infected, slaughters the suspected animal and forwards the viscera to Dublin for examination by the Veterinary Officers of the Department, sending at the same time a report on the case, and on the condition of the remaining swine on the premises.

When an outbreak of Swine Fever has been confirmed by the Departmental Veterinary Officers, such further measures of restriction and slaughter are taken as in the circumstances are considered necessary for the prevention of the spread of the disease; and the infected premises when cleared of swine are thoroughly cleansed and disinfected before they are allowed to be re-stocked.

8,908 suspected outbreaks were reported in the year 1895 and duly investigated.

In 3,045 instances the outbreak was confirmed, a result which contrasts favourably with that for the year 1894, when there were no less than 7,619 confirmed outbreaks.

During the past year 8,680 Swine were slaughtered, 4,891 of which were diseased.

Early in the year an Order in Council was passed prohibiting the holding of Swine Fairs or Markets, except with a licence of the Local Authority, in any Poor Law Union to which the Order might be specially applied. Swine exposed at a licensed Fair or Market are required to be branded in a particular manner, and their movement is subject to certain regulations. (The Order will be found at pages 22-25).

Thirty-two of the Poor Law Unions in which Swine Fever was most prevalent were scheduled under this Order; but owing to the decrease that has since taken place in the number of outbreaks, 26 of these Unions have been exempted from the operation of the Order.

ANTHRAX.

Only 4 outbreaks of this disease were reported in the year 1895, as compared with 6 in 1894, and 22 in 1893.

GLANDERS (INCLUDING FARCY).

This disease does not prevail to any serious extent in Ireland; only 5 outbreaks were reported during the year.

RABIES.

771 animals, of which 567 were dogs, were reported as affected with Rabies during 1895, as against 779 in the year 1894, and 424 in the year 1893. While there is reason for doubt whether the disease in all these cases was actually Rabies, the evidence available tends to show that the disease prevails to a considerable extent in this country.

Provision is made in the Rabies (Ireland) Order of 1895 for the compulsory slaughter of rabid dogs; for the slaughter of other rabid animals, and of suspected animals, including those in contact with or bitten by rabid animals; also for the seizure, detention, and destruction of stray unclaimed dogs.

The Police have throughout the year rendered valuable assistance in seizing and destroying wandering and ownerless dogs, a dangerous class of animals to which the dissemination of rabies is frequently due.

A very important power conferred upon Local Authorities is that of making regulations for the muzzling of dogs. Experience has shown that the compulsory use of a properly-constructed muzzle is a most valuable safeguard against the spread of rabies, and every opportunity has been taken by the Department to induce Local Authorities to adopt a uniform code of regulations for the muzzling of dogs in their respective districts.

Such regulations are at present in force in about 80 Poor Law Unions; and it is to be regretted that in the remaining Unions the Local Authorities have not yet seen their way to adopt similar regulations.

SHEEP SCAB.

4,899 cases of this disease were reported during the year; 6,597 cases were reported in the year 1894; and 10,358 in the year 1893.

ANIMAL EXPORTS.

The number of Cattle, Sheep, and Swine exported to Great Britain during the year 1895, as compared with those for the preceding year, is as follows:—

—	1895.	1894.
Cattle, ...	791,607	826,954
Sheep, ...	652,578	957,101
Swine, ...	547,220	584,967
Total	1,991,405	2,369,022

Further details are given in the Statistical Tables contained in this Return.

ANIMAL IMPORTS.

362 Cattle and 17,426 Sheep were imported into Ireland in the year 1895.

TRANSIT.

During the year important Orders, having for their object the better protection of animals from injury or unnecessary suffering while in transit from this country to Great Britain, were passed by the Board of Agriculture in Great Britain, and by the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council in Ireland. These Orders, which came into force on 1st May, 1895, were based on recommendations made by a Departmental Committee appointed by the Board of Agriculture to inquire into the question of the transit by water of animals carried coastwise.

The Irish Order is given at pages 26–33.

(v.) The Licence shall be available for twelve hours, and no longer.

(vi.) The Licence shall specify the horse-slaughterer's or knacker's-yard to which the suspected horse, ass, or mule is to be moved for slaughter, and it shall not be moved to any other horse-slaughterer's or knacker's-yard or place.

(vii.) The suspected horse, ass, or mule so moved shall be moved to the specified horse-slaughterer's or knacker's-yard under the direction and in charge of an Inspector or other officer of the Local Authority; and he shall enforce and superintend the immediate slaughter thereof of the horse, ass, or mule, and shall forthwith report to the Local Authority the fact of the slaughter there.

(viii.) If the movement is to be into the District of another Local Authority, there must also be a Licence of that other Local Authority indorsed on or referring to the first-mentioned Licence; which second Licence must be granted before the horse, ass, or mule is moved into the District of that other Local Authority.

By the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council in Ireland.

HOUGHTON.]

WE, the Lord Lieutenant-General and General Governor of Ireland, by and with the advice and consent of Her Majesty's Privy Council in Ireland, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in Us vested under the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, and of every other power enabling Us in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered as follows:—

PART I.

TRANSIT—PROTECTION OF ANIMALS.

CHAPTER I.—ON VESSELS.

Provisions as to Vessels carrying Animals.

1. Except as otherwise expressed, the provisions of this Article shall apply to all vessels in or on which animals are carried to or from any port or place in Ireland: Provided that the provisions of this Article shall not apply to foreign animals, or to vessels in which foreign animals are carried.

(Parts of Vessel to be used.)

(l.) Animals shall not be carried on any part above a compartment where other animals are carried.

(ii.) Animals shall not be carried in any part of the vessel, where, in ordinary course of navigation, they would interfere with the proper management or ventilation of the vessel, or with the efficient working of the boats.

(Pens and Fittings of Vessels.)

(iii.) The animals shall be carried in pens.

(iv.) No pen shall exceed ten feet in length, and nine feet in breadth, and the stanchions of each pen shall be securely fastened to the deck by means of iron sockets or otherwise, and the materials used in the construction of the pens shall be of a substantial character, and of sufficient strength to withstand the action of the weather and to resist the weight of the animals thrown against them. This provision (iv.) shall not until further Order apply to vessels which the date of this Order are regularly employed in conveying animals other than foreign animals.

(v.) Ship's fittings likely to cause injury or unnecessary suffering to animals shall be properly and securely fenced off.

(vi.) The floor of each pen shall, in order to prevent slipping, be fitted with suitable battens or other proper footholds, which shall be securely fastened to the deck by angle iron plates or otherwise, and shall be strewn with a proper quantity of sand or other suitable substance.

(vii.) Animals while on board a vessel shall be protected against injury or unnecessary suffering from undue exposure to the weather.

(Passage-Ways.)

(viii.) In all inclosed portions of the vessel in which animals are carried there shall be a passage-way of a minimum width of one foot six inches from the hatchway to the most distant pen, which passage-way shall be kept free of obstruction. This provision (viii.) shall not until further Order apply to vessels which at the date of this Order are regularly employed in conveying animals other than foreign animals.

(ix.) Where sheep are carried on deck proper gangways or passage-ways shall be provided either between or above the pens in which they are carried.

(Ventilation.)

(x.) All parts of the vessel on which animals are carried shall be sufficiently and suitably ventilated. All such parts if below deck shall, in addition to any ventilation obtained by means of the hatchways, be provided with sufficient and suitable ventilators for the removal of foul air and for the admission of a proper supply of fresh air to all the animals carried.

(Light.)

(xi.) All parts of the vessel over which the animals pass or in which they are penned shall be properly lighted, and arrangements shall be made for the provision at all times of adequate light for the proper tending of the animals.

(Overcrowding.)

(xii.) The vessel shall not be overcrowded in any part or pen so as to cause injury or unnecessary suffering to the animals therein.

*These Poor Law Unions have since been exempted from the operation of the Markets and Fairs (Swine-Fever) Order.

(Food and Water.)

(xiii.) When animals are carried on a vessel for a voyage which on an average takes more than eighteen hours they shall be provided while on board with a sufficient amount of food and water, and proper accommodation shall be provided on board for the storage of food so that the same shall not be unduly exposed to the weather at sea.

(Securing of Cattle.)

(xiv.) All fat cattle while being carried on a vessel shall be securely tied by the head.

(Approaches, Gangways, and other Apparatus.)

(xv.) Approaches, gangways, passage-ways, cages, and other apparatus used for the loading or unloading of animals on or from a vessel, shall be so constructed that injury or unnecessary suffering shall not be caused to the animals.

(Attendance.)

(xvi.) A vessel on which animals are carried shall, in addition to the ordinary crew, carry a sufficient number of qualified attendants to properly tend the animals.

(Injured Animals.)

(xvii.) If any animal has a limb broken or is otherwise seriously injured during the voyage, the master of the vessel shall forthwith cause that animal to be slaughtered unless he is satisfied that it can be kept alive and led away without cruelty.

(Shorn Sheep.)

(xviii.) Between each first day of November and the next following thirtieth day of April (both days inclusive), shorn sheep shall not be carried on deck, except where they were last shorn more than sixty days before being so carried.

(Savings for Ferry Boats, &c.)

(xix.) The foregoing provisions of this Article except as regards overcrowding (xiii.), and approaches, gangways, and other apparatus (xv.), shall not extend to any ferry boat or to any vessel used for carrying animals across an arm of the sea, or on a river, canal, or other inland water, but the fittings of every such boat or vessel shall be such as to protect, so far as practicable, the animals so carried from injury and unnecessary suffering.

(Detention.)

2. Animals landed from a vessel shall, on a certificate of an Inspector of the Privy Council certifying to the effect that the provisions of this Chapter, or any of them, have not been observed in the vessel, be detained at the place of landing, or in some adjacent thereto, until the Lord Lieutenant otherwise directs.

CHAPTER 2.—FOOD AND WATER.

Food and Water during Detention.

3. An Inspector, officer, or constable detaining an animal, horse, ass, or mule under the Act of 1894, or any Order in Council, shall cause it to be supplied with requisite food and water during its detention; and the expenses incurred by him in respect thereof may be recovered summarily from the person having charge of the animal, horse, ass or mule, or from its owner.

Water at Shipping and Unshipping Places.

4. At every place where animals are put on board of or landed from vessels, provision shall be made, to the satisfaction of the Privy Council, for a supply of water for animals; and water shall be supplied there, gratuitously, on request of any person having charge of any animal.

Food at Unshipping Places.

5. At every place where animals are landed from vessels provision shall be made, to the satisfaction of the Privy Council, for the speedy and convenient landing of animals, and for a supply of food for them; and food shall be supplied there on request of any person having charge of any animal, at such price as the Privy Council approve.

This Chapter not applicable to Foreign Animals, &c.

6. The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to foreign animals, or to vessels on which foreign animals are carried.

(ii.) The floor thereof shall, in order to prevent slipping, be strewn with a proper quantity of litter or sand or other proper substance, or be fitted with battens or other proper footholds.

Provided that the requirement (i.) in this Article shall not apply to any railway in regard to which the Lord Lieutenant is satisfied that one spring buffer is sufficient at each end of any railway truck, horse-box, or other railway vehicle used for carrying animals, horses, asses, or mules on such railway.

Overcrowding.

8. A railway company shall not allow any railway truck, horse-box, or other vehicle used for carrying animals, horses, asses, or mules on the railway to be overcrowded so as to cause unnecessary suffering to the animals, horses, asses, or mules therein.

(v.) If a higher valuation is awarded than the valuation specified in the notice given by the Inspector or Officer of the Veterinary Department, then the Privy Council shall pay the cost of the reference and award and all costs incurred by the owner with respect to the arbitration when ascertained, but otherwise the costs of the reference and award, and all costs incurred by the Privy Council with respect to the arbitration when ascertained as aforesaid, may be deducted by the Privy Council from the sum payable to the owner as compensation under the award.

Slaughter by Local Authority and Compensation.

22.—(1.) A Local Authority may, if they think it cause to be slaughtered:—

- (a.) any cattle, sheep, or swine affected with foot-and-mouth disease or suspected of being so affected; and

(A) any cattle, sheep, or swine being or having been in the same field, shed, or other place or in the same herd or flock or otherwise in contact with animals affected with foot-and-mouth disease, or being or having been in the opinion of the Local Authority in any way exposed to the infection of foot-and-mouth disease.

(2) The Local Authority shall out of union funds pay compensation as follows for animals slaughtered under this Article:—

(a) where the animal slaughtered was affected with foot-and-mouth disease the compensation shall be the value of the animal immediately before it became so affected; and

(b) in every other case the compensation shall be the value of the animal immediately before it was slaughtered.

Ascertainment of Value for Compensation in Ireland.

25.—(1) Where in Ireland an animal is slaughtered on account of foot-and-mouth disease by order of the Privy Council under the provisions of the Act of 1894, the value of the animal for compensation shall be ascertained as follows:—

(i) If within fourteen days after the receipt of notice in writing from an Inspector or Officer of the Privy Council of the valuation of the animal the owner of the animal or his agent does not give a counter-notice in writing stating in effect that he disputes the valuation made on behalf of the Privy Council, the compensation shall be paid on that valuation.

(ii) If the owner gives such a counter-notice, then the question of the value of the animal shall by virtue of this Article stand referred to the arbitration of a single arbitrator, who shall make his award ready for delivery within seven days after he is appointed, and the provisions of the Common Law Procedure Amendment Act (Ireland), 1856, shall apply to the reference and arbitration.

(iii) An arbitrator may be appointed by an agreement in writing signed by an Inspector or Officer of the Privy Council and by the owner of the animal or his agent.

(iv) In case no such agreement is entered into within seven days after the service of the counter-notice by the owner or his agent, either party may, having given notice to the other party of the place and time of his intended application, apply to a court of summary jurisdiction to appoint an arbitrator, and such court may accordingly appoint an arbitrator, as if such court were a court or judge within the meaning of the Common Law Procedure Amendment Act (Ireland), 1856.

(v) If a higher valuation is awarded than the valuation specified in the notice given by the Inspector or Officer of the Privy Council then the Privy Council shall pay the cost of the reference and award and all costs incurred by the owner with respect to the arbitration when ascertained, but otherwise the costs of the reference and award and all costs incurred by the Privy Council with respect to the arbitration when ascertained as aforesaid may be deducted by the Privy Council from the sum payable to the owner as compensation under the award.

(2) Where in Ireland an animal is slaughtered on account of foot-and-mouth disease by order of a Local Authority under the provisions of this Order, the provisions of this Article shall apply to the ascertainment of the value of the animal for compensation, and shall be read and have effect as if the Local Authority were mentioned therein instead of the Privy Council.

Withholding of Compensation.

26.—(1) A Local Authority may, if they think fit, withhold, either wholly or partially, compensation in respect of an animal slaughtered by their order under this Order where the animal was in their opinion diseased at the time of its being brought into their district.

(2) A Movement Licence granted under this Order or under any Regulation made by a Local Authority under this Order shall not be available if granted by the owner of the animal to be moved or by his agent, or by the owner or consignee or other person selling the animal or exposing the animal for sale, or by the purchaser thereof or by his agent, or by the auctioneer or other person conducting or licensed to hold the sale at which the animal is exposed, or by the occupier of the farm or premises or slaughter-house from or to which the animal is to be moved, or by any individual member of an Executive Committee or Sub-Committee of a Local Authority.

(2.) The Inspector shall forthwith report to the Clerk of the Council, Veterinary Department, Privy Council Office, Dublin Castle, the information received by him, and his proceedings thereon.

II.—CIRCULARS TO THE LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN IRELAND UNDER THE DISEASES OF ANIMALS ACT, 1894.

RABIES.

No. 1731/95.

Sir,—I am directed by the Lord Lieutenant to state that it is considered very desirable that in a doubtful case of Rabies in a dog or in a cat, the existence of Rabies in the animal should be verified by a person possessed of special qualifications for the purpose.

It has been ascertained on inquiry that such investigations cannot yet be conveniently carried out here; and until further arrangements are made, Professor John F. McFadyen, Principal of the Royal Veterinary College, Camden Town, London, N.W., is prepared to undertake these investigations at a fee of £2 in each case, which would be payable by the Local Authority, at whose instance the examination is made.

It is not necessary that the entire carcass of the dog or cat should be forwarded to the College, it being sufficient to send the head of the animal in cheap glycerine in a tin canister, either soldered down or securely fastened with sealing wax. Where the services of a Veterinary Surgeon or other skilled person can be secured, only the brain need be sent. It is very desirable that the head or brain, as the case may be, should be despatched at the earliest possible moment.

A special investigation appears to be very important wherever a human being has unfortunately been bitten, inasmuch as the result of the scientific inquiry, if favourable, would relieve the bitten person from great and unnecessary anxiety. The fact, however, that such an investigation is to be made, should not in any way be allowed to delay or prevent the treatment of the bitten person.

I am to request that you will be good enough to bring the matter under the notice of your Local Authority at their next meeting.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

W. S. B. KATH.

RABIES—MUZZLING OF DOGS.

Sir,—I am directed by the Lords Justices to acquaint you for the information of the Board of Guardians, acting as the Local Authority under the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, that it appears from the returns furnished to this Department by the Inspectors of the various Poor Law Unions, that there has been a considerable increase in the number of reported cases of Canine Rabies during the first six months of the present year, as compared with the corresponding period of the two preceding years.

The numbers are:—

Half year ended June, 1895,—290 cases.

Half year ended June, 1894,—195 cases.

Half year ended June, 1893,—118 cases.

The Rabies (Ireland) Order of 1893, which came into force on the 1st instant, empowers the Board of Guardians as the Local Authority constituted under the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, for dealing with the disease, to make special regulations as to dogs.

Article 10 of that Order provides as follows:—

Special Regulations of Local Authority as to Dogs.

10.—(1.) A Local Authority may make such Regulations as they think fit for the following purposes, any of them:

- (a.) For providing for the muzzling of dogs with in or on any public place with such exemption (if any) as the Local Authority think fit;
- (b.) For providing for the seizure, detention, and disposal, including slaughter, of dogs as muzzled;
- (c.) For providing for the recovery by the Local Authority of the expenses incurred by them in respect of the detention of any dog seized and detained and disposed of under any such Regulations from the owners thereof; and
- (d.) For prohibiting or regulating the holding of shows or exhibitions of dogs, and the export of dogs for exhibition or sale thereof.

(2.) The power to make Regulations under this Article shall be exercised only by the Local Authority or their Executive Committee and shall not be delegated to any other Committee or Sub-Committee.

In view of the reported increase of the disease, and of the serious danger to the community should it continue to spread, I am to suggest that the Local Authority should now take advantage of the power conferred by this Order, and make Regulations for the effectual muzzling of dogs in each Union where such Regulations do not already exist.

It is most desirable that the Local Authority should require the muzzling of all dogs in the Union, while in any public place, whether the dogs are led or not, with a muzzle so constructed as to render it impossible for the dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal. Dogs in charge of competent persons, while being used for sporting purposes, or for the capture and destruction of vermin, may be exempted.

The definition of "Public place" is given in Article 26 of the Rabies (Ireland) Order of 1893, viz:—

"Public place" includes any street, highway, thoroughfare, public bridge, royal park, public park, garden, pleasure ground, common, enclosed land, or other place to which the public have at the time being access.

I am to request that you will be good enough to bring the matter under the notice of the Local Authority at the next Meeting of your Board.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

J. B. DEANSTON.

RABIES.

SIR.—With reference to the Circular Letter, No. 2479/95, dated the 23rd July last, addressed to Local Authorities under the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, on the subject of Regulations for the muzzling of Dogs, I am directed by the Lord Lieutenant to state that it is considered essential that the Regulations made by Local Authorities should be more uniform in character and scope than appears to be the case at present.

With this and in view of a specimen set of Regulations is enclosed, which will, it is hoped, be found useful by Local Authorities in framing Regulations under the Rabies (Ireland) Order of 1895.

The adoption of similar Regulations would tend to secure the uniformity of action on the part of the Local Authorities which is so important when dealing with a disease of so dangerous a type as Rabies.

It has been observed that some Regulations operate for very limited periods, or are applied to comparatively small areas; and that others have been rescinded soon after the cessation of the outbreak in connection with which they were framed, or during the winter months; while some Local Authorities have expressed the opinion that it is unnecessary to make any Regulations, because their Union happens at the time to be free from the disease.

The incubative stage of Rabies is, however, not unfrequently of long duration. Experience has shown also that the disease may be very prevalent in the winter as well as in the summer months; and the circumstance that a Union may enjoy a period of immunity from outbreaks is not in itself a sufficient reason to justify a Local Authority in refraining from co-operation with other Local Authorities in a combined effort to eradicate this disease, which annually causes the destruction of numbers of cattle and other animals bitten by rabid dogs, as well as loss of human life.

His Excellency, therefore, desires me to again impress upon every Local Authority the importance of united action for the stamping out of Rabies by a strict execution of the provisions of the Rabies (Ireland) Order of 1895 as regards stray dogs, and by the enforcement of a uniform code of muzzling Regulations.

The Royal Irish Constabulary will assist the Local Authorities in securing due compliance with their Regulations.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

J. B. DONOVAN.

The Clerk of each Union.

RABIES (IRELAND) ORDER, 1895.

MUZZLING OF DOGS.

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Guardians of the Poor Law Union of _____ acting as the Local Authority under the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, on the _____ day of 189____, the following Regulations were made, namely:

1. On and after the _____ day of 189____, every dog whilst in or on any public place, in the Poor Law Union of _____ whether led or not, shall be securely muzzled with a properly fitting muzzle, so constructed as to render it impossible for such dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal, but not so as to prevent such dog from breathing freely, or lapping water.

This Regulation shall not apply to dogs in charge of competent persons while being used for sporting purposes, or for the capture and destruction of vermin.

2. Any dog found in or on any public place within the said Poor Law Union, not being muzzled as required in Regulation 1, shall be seized and detained; and, in addition to any penalty to which the owner of such dog may be liable for the breach of Regulation 1, all expenses connected with such detention may be recovered from the owner of such dog in a Court of Summary Jurisdiction; and, further, if such dog is not claimed within three days from the date of the seizure thereof, it shall be killed or otherwise disposed of so may be directed by the Local Authority, or by an Inspector or Officer authorized by the Local Authority in that behalf.

3. These Regulations shall continue in force until altered or revoked.

PENALTIES.

The Diseases of Animals Act, 1894, provides that contravention of a Regulation of a Local Authority thereunder is an offence against the Act, which renders the offender liable to a penalty not exceeding £20 for every such offence.

By order,

Clerk of the Union.
